

Null Space Property in Binary Compressed Sensing

Sandra Keiper

In the talk we will present a new null space property introduced by Stojnic, which ensures unique recovery of binary signals. We will further discuss equivalence relations to the standard null space property and recovery thresholds.